1. Recap after break:

- A quick recap within the team as it has been a couple of months since our last meeting
- We are currently at the point where we need to define a way to recommend shares, probably using a compareTo algorithm
- This will be accomplished using dummy data, we have to be clear about this; if Team has the time we will incorporate it with the existing system
- Pete will look to create some data documentation, enforce a single source of truth to minimize reuse / bad code smells within the database
- Over the weekend, team to confirm everyone's development environment is still working and come up with a preliminary solution proposal for the 5p recommender (this can either be used as is or expanded to 17 for the final solution)
